

A complete rendering example

This example shows the code used during the lesson to show how a rendering pipeline, together with the corresponding vertices format, uniform block, texture, model, descriptor set layout and descriptor set can be created. It also shows how the command buffers can be populated and how uniform variables can be updated. The code is based on `Starter.hpp`, which is a custom wrapper to the topics covered in the official Vulkan Tutorial.